

A network of young scientists.

Become a member of an ASBMB Student Chapter.

The American Society for Biochemistry and Molecular Biology Student Chapters program is a national network of more than 100 chapters representing more than 2,000 undergraduate students and faculty members dedicated to the advancement of research, education and science outreach.

Student chapter benefits include:

- ASBMB membership
- Access to the three scientific journals and member magazine
- Travel awards to attend the ASBMB annual meeting, Discover BMB
- Exclusive awards and scholarships for chapter members only
- Eligibility to be elected to the ASBMB Honor Society
- Funding for outreach activities, networking and professional development opportunities with the society

[asbmb.org/education/
student-chapters](https://asbmb.org/education/student-chapters) is an official chapter of the American Society for Biochemistry and Molecular Biology.

Adviser:

Contact information: